

Important contacts in the challenge of lobbying and publicizing our situation

Contact instructions and Ideas, Congress:

Elsewhere in this folder is a list of elected officials. Constituents, preferably, but also some others can contact these folks via their website: They can be reached at www.house.gov/representatives/ or www.house.gov and www.senate.gov/a caution about using the business cards in the file is that they change from time to time and aides change jobs fairly frequently.

For your local officials, consult the websites for your county, state or tax district via google.

Contacting Newspapers and news outlets:

This is an excellent site to find these outlets in any are of the US. The listings are broken down by state, city, interest group and other factors. Follow the links toward your destination. Each outlet listed will have a website and in most cases, the first page will have "contact" shown often near the bottom of the page. Browsing these links will almost always find the "letters to the editor" and the "press releases" links on which you can frequently simply paste the content, found elsewhere in this folder.
